

October 27, 2010

NEW DEVELOPMENT

• MANHATTAN SKYLINE

Proud moment 55 Thompson

Manhattan Skyline, developer and manager of 55 Thompson, SoHo's new rental loft apartments, announced that the building is 35% leased since its opening at the beginning of September.

"We're very proud of what we've accomplished at 55 Thompson," said Laurie Zucker, a principal of Manhattan Skyline.

"It's the first full-service rental building in SoHo in years, with fine finishes and services that rival any condo building, and people are truly noticing. We've gotten an impressive amount of interest from foreigners looking for a fabulous home in one of Manhattan's most desirable neighborhoods, and from couples in and around New York City, many of whom see 55 Thompson as a fantastic alternative to a traditional condo sublet."

55 Thompson has 38 homes in all. There is a 24-hour attended lobby and resident manager plus the exclusive 'Sky's The Limit' concierge service by Abigail Michaels. There's also a fitness center, and two landscaped terraces providing 3,350 s/f at the 2nd floor and 1,600 s/f at the rooftop.