-- Soho boutiques sell few glass slippers, but word is that a real European princess has made a home for herself at 55 Thompson. Richard Cantor, a principal with the building's marketing brokerage Cantor Pecorella, gave The Real Deal the scoop, but wouldn't divulge her country of origin or her identity. We hear that she liked her abode so much she encouraged her college friend to move into the building as well.

-- The rental building has been attracting more than royalty, however. Cantor, along with developer Laurie Zucker Lederman of Manhattan Skyline Management, said that 55 Thompson has drawn a lot of tenants from the finance industry -- so many that the building's gym is now open 24 hours a day to accommodate their erratic schedules. Rumor has it that the building's Tokyo traders can be seen working out at 2 a.m. on a regular basis.
