

NYP Real Estate Guide Home

April 21, 2011

http://www.nypost.com/p/news/business/realestate/residential/heidi_yo_8OcVKUeSJU4DxPUE
GWgKgJ

HEIDI YO!

HEIDI KLUM is back in town and looking for a new place to move into with her family while filming her reality show for six weeks this summer.

Last year, we reported that Klum — with crooner husband Seal and her four children — rented Bob and Cortney Novogratz's 400 West St. townhouse, which includes a basketball court that converts to a screening room. Now the LA-based “Project Runway” host is on the hunt for similarly luxurious NYC digs — but closer to her show’s editing offices in SoHo.

She checked out three penthouses at 55 Thompson St. and offered $100,000 to rent all three two-bedroom, two-bathroom units for six weeks. Her offer, however, was turned down because the developer is looking for long-term renters. The penthouses she wanted are PHA, asking $18,000 a month; PHB, asking $15,000 a month; and PHC, asking $20,000 a month.

NO ROOM FOR KLUM: Heidi Klum wanted to rent at 55 Thompson, but her short-term offer was rejected.

Isaiah Merritt/Getty Images